U. S. WARINESS TO STEP UP AID FOR CHINA IS INDICATED

MARSHALL UNDERSCORES OFFICIAL POSITION OF CAREFUL RELIEF STUDY

By EDWARD E. BOMAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Official wariness over stepping up American help to China became evident today.

More than a week after Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek sent his personal aid plea to President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall said in effect that no decision has yet been reached. The un-answered problem, as Marshall stated it, is what this government can properly do to be of real assistance in turning back the Chinese Communist forces.

The secretary discussed the China crisis in carefully chosen words at a news conference yesterday after his second White House session this week with Mr. Truman.

What the administration decides, Marshall said, will depend on three things: (1) congress, (2) how much further assistance the U. S. can provide in the way of armed supplies and (3) the risk of involving this country in responsibilities such as those as it is already committed to in other parts of the world.

Marshall confirmed that the one plea of China has received a response. He said every effort is being made to speed shipments of arms and military equipment for which congress provided $125,000,000 during the year ending next April.

China, however, has spent all but about $12,000,000 of the sum, mostly for arms advanced from American stocks.

In his letter to Mr. Truman, Chiang is understood to have asked in addition for an immediate restatement of American backing for his Nanking regime, to be followed by larger material support.

Chiang also opened the door for direct American supervision of its military aid program with a request that it be headed up by an American of important stature. Chinese sources said Nanking would like to have General Douglas MacArthur assigned that role.

Chinese Officials Disappointed At U.S. Aid Delay

NANKING, Nov. 25—(AP)—Chinese officials were disappointed today in Secretary Marshall's brief Washington comment on the China situation.

They had hoped he would disclose a new program of assistance to Chiang Kai-Shek's armies fighting for their lives north of Nanking.

A juncture of three army groups 25 miles east of Suchow, 180 miles northwest of here, strengthened the Nationalist position against the attacking Communists, pro-government reports said.

But the war was a secondary topic in the Chinese capital.

While officials refused to be quoted by name, several said they had hoped—particularly in view of the "encouraging" reports of American interest in China recently—to hear Secretary Marshall announce some new move to strengthen China's armies and government morally and physically.

Chinese officials have become increasingly critical of the American seretary of state of late. Generally, they blame him for the failure of the American government to give the Chinese what Nanking considers "adequate support."

Mediator Urges Admission Of Israel To U.N.

PARIS, Nov. 25—(AP)—The acting Palestine mediator said today the United Nations should admit Israel to membership.

The mediator, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche of the United States, told the 58-nation political committee the United Nations should reaffirm the existence of the new Jewish state.

He said this was the first of seven points he felt might bring about a Palestine settlement. An authoritative source said Israel will apply for membership within the next week or two.

Earlier Russia called on the United Nations to order all foreign troops and foreign military personnel out of Palestine.

Reds Cheer Resolution

Russia submitted a formal resolution aimed at withdrawal from the Holy Land of Arab armies now fighting there. Some said the reference to military men might include the U. N. truce observers, members of the American, Belgian and French armed forces. Bunche said there are 500 such observers on teams in Palestine and surrounding states.

Bunche declared the contention of the Russian bloc that Count Folke Bernadotte, the slain mediator, was influenced by Britain and the United States in making his report, was "a contemptible slander on a dead man and a slur on the integrity of an honest man."

The acting mediator said Bernadotte first suggested boundary changes to the Arabs and Jews in June and reported this to the security council. He said Bernadotte would have liked Arab Palestine to be a separate state, but saw no hope such a step could be accomplished.

Arabs Prolong Dispute

Bunche declared the Arabs must "accept responsibility for prolonging" the Palestine dispute by refusing to negotiate. He told the committee the "more firm and

UN Publication Of Berlin Quiz Answers Delayed

PARIS, Nov. 25—(AP)—Neutral nations seeking to solve the Berlin crisis delayed again today, at Russian insistence, publishing answers the Big Four gave to questions about currency in the blockaded city.

The replies were to have been published today. Argentine sources said the new delay resulted from the desire of Andrei Vishinsky, Russian deputy foreign minister, to let the Kremlin decide whether the Rusian answer should be made public here.

It was after the U. S., Britain and France introduced their western mark into Berlin that the Russians blockaded the city in June. The U. S. and Britain have been supplying western parts of Berlin by air since at a cost to the U. S. at a rate of $100,000,000 a year.

Juan A. Bramuglia, Argentine foreign minister and November president of he security council, called the six neutral nations on the council back into a night session to consider the Russian and Western replies. The Argenine source said the delay in publishing the replies does not mean they will not be relased, but only that Bramuglia was extending a cour-

TRUMAN TO ASK FOR EXPORT CONTROLS, OFFICIALS PREDICT

LONG-RANGE PROGRAM FOR WHOLE LIFE OF MARSHALL PLAN SEEN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(AP)—Administration sources predicted today President Truman will ask the new congress to keep export controls in force throughout the prospective four years of the Marshall plan.

They said the request would fit in with both U. S. foreign policy, particularly that related to the "cold war," and the domestic anti-inflation program.

Their explanation:

1. The controls furnish a means by which scarce industrial goods can be channeled to Western Europe to aid its recovery and simultaneously kept from reaching the Russian sphere.

2. They also furnish a means of preventing foreign buyers from bidding up the price of American goods.

The controls, wielded by the commerce department through licensing requiremnts on shipment abroad, are scheduled to expire February 28 under a "temporary" extension voted by congress earlier this year.

The informants, who cannot be named, said Secretary of Commerce Sawyer has suggested to the President that the control powers be extended through 1952 so they will cover the planned life span of the European recovery program.

Sawyer's recommendations, administration sources said, call for separating export controls and the allocations powers, renwal of both and possible standby power for compulsory allocation if the voluntary program breaks down.

France Protests Anew On Plan For Ruhr Industry

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—French authorities today renewed their objection to American-British plans for giving Germany a limited voice in control of the key Ruhr industries.

Secretary of State Marshall in effect rejected Paris protests against the move yesterday. He told a news conference the policy must be carried out in order to boost production for Western Germany and all Europe.

A French embassy official, however, said he feels the American stand leaves a "loophole" for the possible rebirth of a German war machine.

"Only First Round."

"This is only the first round," the official told a reporter privately. "The future of the industrial Ruhr is of vital concern to all Frenchmen and we will continue to insist on a bigger voice in determining its future."

In an effort to allay French fears, Marshall invited France to take a direct part in supervision of the Ruhr coal and steel industries even though the French zone in Germany has not yet joined the British-American zonal union. The British approved the plan.

Marshall also expressed willingness to "consider" further measures to insure France's security against possible future German aggression.

The secretary made it clear, however, that any move to put these future safeguards into effect will be delayed until the peace treaty for Germany is written.

Thankful U.S. Shares Bounty

Nation Observes Holiday With New World Generosity

By The Associated Press.

Americans, their country prosperous and at peace, give thanks today for the bounty which they are sharing with their neighbors around the world.

The 1948 Thanksgiving Day brought a new breadth to the traditions established 327 years ago, when the Pilgrims shared their harvest with their Indian neighbors.

Today, instead of merely bringing their baked corn and new-plucked vegetables to a community feast table, the people were sharing their goods internationally through the Marshall Plan.

Food Still Tradition.

But the tradition of the food-heaped table remained a big part of the celebration for Americans, who today were gathering throughout the land for family reunions and to eat turkey and trimmings.

Railroads and airlines scheduled extra facilities to handle the stream of home-bound travellers. Highways were jammed.

Thanksgiving festivities were arranged for hospitals, penthouses, orphanages, clubs, churches, at army posts, jails, welfare agencies, aboard ships, and wherever Americans gathered, at home or overseas.

There were banquets, entertainments, football games, and in many places special prayers.

Most Business Closed.

Most places of business and public buildings were closed. Inns and movie houses were crowded.

In Washington, President Truman plans to spend most of the day working at his desk, except for time out for a turkey dinner at Blair House across the street from the White House.

On New York's Bowery, the Down-and-Outer Association planned its annual turkey dinner—with the meal on the house.

Military Forces Get Full Control Of Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A military junta took over provisional rule of Venezuela today. The announcement of the new leadership came a few hours after the army toppled the government of President Romulo Gallegos.

The announcement, issued just before midnight last night, said Lt. Col. Carlos Delgado Chalbaud has been named president of the junta. Delgado was defense minister in Gallagos' cabinet.

Bloodless Revolution.

The army, which overthrew Gallegos' government without firing a shot, has announced it is in general control of the nation.

Other members of the junta are Lt. Col. Marcos Perez Jiminez and Lt. Col. Luis Llovera Paez. Periz was chief of the army staff and Llovera his assistant.

The bloodless revolt occurred at noon yesterday when the troops took over all public buildings.

First Elected President.

Gallegos, who took office last February as the nation's first president elected by direct vote, was at his home under army protection. The whereabouts of other political leaders was unknown.

Perez said the army staged the coup because of the "incapacity" of Gallegos' administration, made up of members of the Democratic Action party, and because "extremeist" labor elements were threatening a general strike.

U. S. Ambassador Walter Donnelly said reports to him from various sections of the country indicated that American citizens and U. S. property were safe.

Fair And Sunny Holiday Weather Seen For Texas

By The Associated Press.

A perfect day for the trip over the hill to grandma's for Thanksgiving turkey today.

Texas was fair and sunny and the autumn weather was crisp—not only at grandma's but at the football stadiums, too.

A cool front easing into the state this afternoon wasn't expected to make much change in temperatures. The lowest readings early this morning were in the 30's in the Big Bend country with 32 at Van Horn. Brownsville reported 58 degrees.

Highs yesterday afternoon ranged from near 60 in the Panhandle and Big Bend area to the 70's in the extreme south. The highest was 75 at Brownsville and the lowest 56 at Guadalupe Pass.

Total Of 25 Holiday Deaths Recorded So Far Over U.S.; Traffic Toll Highest

By The Associated Press.

The nation's Thanksgiving death toll started a slow climb today with 23 traffic and two miscellaneous deaths reported since 6 p. m. Wednesday.

The National Safety Council did not estimate the probable number of deaths for the holiday. Last year's violent toll included 107 by traffic, and 16 from miscellaneous causes. In 1943 the total from all causes was 83.

Today's list by states (traffic first, miscellaneous second):

Alabama 2-0; Colorado 5-1; Connecticut 1-0; Idaho 1-0; Indiana 3-0; Iowa 1-0; Kansas 2-0; Michigan 1-1; New York 2-0; Ohio 4-0; Utah 1-0.

Passengers, Crew Safe After Plane Crashes, Burns

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(AP)—A Trans-World Airline Constellation plane caught fire shortly after it landed at Municipal Airport early today from Washington, D. C., but all 18 passengers and five crewmen aboard walked away from it safely. The plane was demolished.

A TWA spokesman said the fire, apparently originating in one of the engines, started shortly after the huge airliner had come to a stop near the far end of the runway. A heavy fog blanketed the area.

The pilot, Capt. Evan Lewis, 44, of Los Angeles, aided by other crewmen, quickly assisted the passengers, including four children, from the plane.

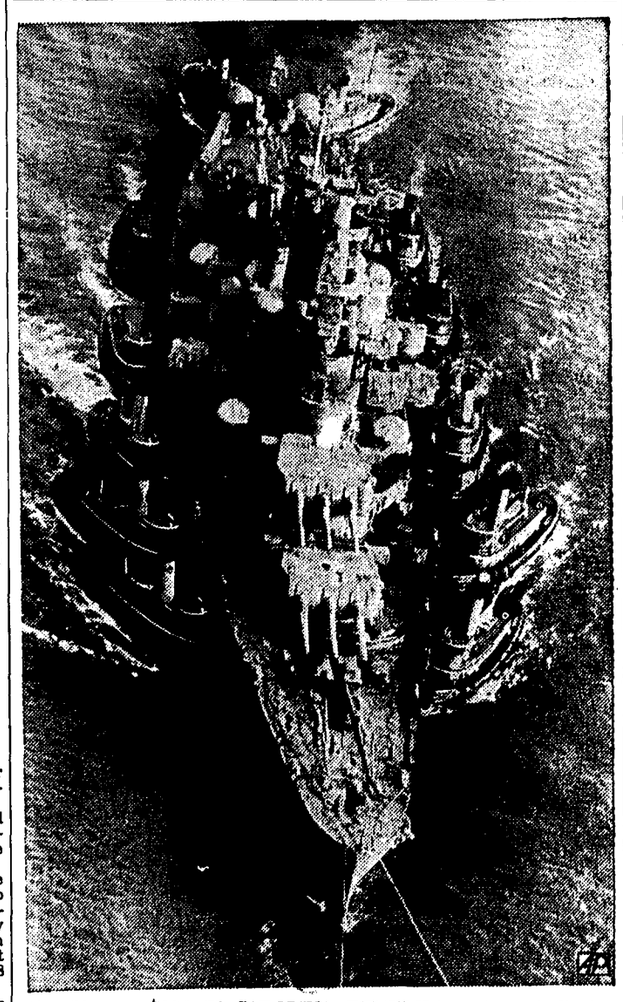

"Everyone was calm and collected," said Capt. Lewis, "and wer able to walk away from the plane without panic."

Greek Premier Stricken Again

ATHENS, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Premier Themistokles Sophoulis had a second heart attack today.

Doctors said the 87-year old premier may recover.

Sophoulis first was stricken last night at his office. Physicians revived him quickly but decided not to remove him from his office.

Corsicanans Open Observance With Church Services

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff

More than 600 persons, representing various religious faiths, united in song, prayer and scripture readings at the First Methodist Church Wednesday night for Corsicana's annual Thanksgiving service.

Congregations from nine churches heard the speaker, Rev. Herbert G. Dudley, list three great world hungers that should prompt the people to thank God for the courage to face life.

Three Hungers

These hungers, he said, are:

1. Hunger for bread—the world is filled with people who are hungry tonight.

2. Hunger for fellowship.

3. Hunger for the Word of God.

Rev. Dudley, pastor of the First Christian Church, declared "the nation and the church are built on justice, freedom and brotherhood."

Dr. Bohmfalk Presides

First Methodist Pastor, Erwin F. Bohmfalk, D. D., presided at the annual event, introducing those on the program. Four hymns were sung, and a union choir sang the familiar Thanksgiving anthem, "We Gather Together," under direction of John Gravelle.

Rev. Marvin C. Bledsoe, Central Methodist, gave the invocation, Rev. A. F. Leach, Church of the Nazarene, said the benediction, and Rev. W. T. Boulware, North Corsicana Methodist, also led in a prayer. Prior to a Thanksgiving offering, which will go to the Community Chest, Dr. Bohmfalk led the group in prayer. The offering amounted to $123.94.

Scripture readings were given by Rabbi Joseph Shapiro and Rev. Henry Price of the Assembly of God church.

Nine Churches

Participating in the service were representatives from these churches: Assembly of God, Church of the Nazarene, Central Methodist, First Methodist, North Corsicana Methodist, First Baptist, First Christian, First Presbyterian and Congregation Agudas Achim.

Meanwhile, at the Eleventh Avenue Methodist Church, its members and the Memorial Baptist congregation assembled for their annual service with Rev. J. B. Ousley preaching the sermon.

A collection there also went to the Community Chest. It amounted to $33.90.

Presbyterian Service

Third Avenue Presbyterians united with the Cumberland church at 8 a. m. Thursday for a Thanksgiving service, and a special Mass followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, was celebrated at the Church of the Immaculate Conception with the Very Rev. Msgr. V. Graffeo, pastor, officiating.

Communion services were held Thursday morning at St. John's Episcopal Church.

Other churches throughout the city and county held individual and united services, or else planned to do so on Sunday in connection with regular Sabbath services.

Community Chest Still In Need Of More Stuffing

On this Thanksgiving Day the Corsicana Community Chest still lacked a little stuffing.

With the 1948-49 drive not expected to last more than a few more days at the most, the financial picture Thursday stood:

Pledged	39,707.00
Needed	5,727.00

Because of the holiday, the total was not expected to change materially before Friday night.

There was one good lump payment made to the Chest late Wednesday. It was from the employees of the Collin Street Bakery, and totaled $188.

Local Mail Boxes Being Pilfered, Postmaster Says

Several instances of mail box pilfering in the western section of the city were revealed Thursday morning by G. C. (Jake) Hudson, following finding of several opened letters behind shrubbery at the G. L. Tatum home, 1575 West Third avenue, Thursday morning.

The mail receptacle at the Mrs. J. L. Halbert home, several blocks away from the Tatum home apparently had been ransacked, since several of the letters found at the Tatum home were addressed to Mrs. Halbert. One check was found in the discarded mail.

The postmaster indicated that he believed it to be the work of youngsters, but that postal inspectors would be called into the case.

City and county officers have not made any report on these matters.

The previous "pilferings" are reported on West Second and West Third avenues.

AGREEMENT REACHED BY DOCKWORKERS TO END MAJOR STRIKE

RATIFICATION NEEDED, BUT SOME VESSELS SET SAILING DATES

NEW YORK, Nov. 25—(AP)—Negotiators agreed early today on terms for ending the crippling East Coast dockworkers strike.

The agreement, subject to approval by union members, was announced by Cyrus Ching, head of the federal mediation and conciliation service, at . : 35 a. m. (CST).

The announcement came on the 16th day of the strike, which has paralyzed ports from Maine to Virginia and tied up hundreds of vessels on both sides of the Atlantic.

"Queens" to Sail

As a result of the agreement, Cunard White Star Line officials in Southampton, England, immediately announced that the great liner Queen Elizabth would sail Sunday. About 1,500 passengers have been awaiting a settlement in order to sail on the Elizabeth. The sister liner, Queen Mary, will sail next Wednesday, a week later than originally scheduled.

The agreement gives about 65,000 striking dockworkers a 13-cent hourly increase in pay, retroactive to Aug. 21, when previous contracts expired.

However, it is subject to approval by union members who will vote on the new terms Saturday. The membership previously rejected a 10-centh ourly wage increase negotiated by their leaders, precipitating hte walkout 16 days ago.

Increase Demand Cut

Previously, the AFL International Longshoremen's Association had demanded a 25-cent hourly boost in the straight, daytime pay rate of $1.75 hourly.

The employer's top offer, up to the time of the settlement today was 10 cents ore an hour.

He had been almost steadily in conference with representatives of the ILU and the New York Shipping Association, representing the employers, since his arrival.

The agreement, which came after a long night session, is subject to ratification by the union members. Ching said he was "hopeful" they will approve it.

Subject to Approval

The agreement also was subject to approval by the individual employers.

The terms were accepted by negotiating committees headed by Joseph P. Ryan, president of the ILU and John V. Lyon, chairman of the shipping association.

Chingsaid the union will submit the agreement to members for a ratification vote on Saturday.

Union officials said if the terms are approved an end of the stoppage, which has cut vast inroads into the nation's commercial life, could be expected following the holiday weekend.

Rail Embargo Caused

The strike had caused railroads to embargo the movement of export freight to the East, cut off Marshall plan shipments, forced the closing of some industires and idled thousands of railroad and other employes.

Besides the 13-cent hourly increase in regular pay day rates, the agreement calls for.

(1) Retention of the traditional twice-a-day "shakeup" or work call, with the guarantee of four hours work for men called to work only once in a single day.

(2) for those called to work both at the 8 a. m. and 1 p. m. "shape-up" a total of six hours work is guaranteed.

Week's Vacation

(3) A one-week paid vacation for those working between 800 and 1,349 hours a year, and a two-week

(5) An increase of 19 1-2-cents hourly in the present night, weekend and overtime pay rate of $2.62 1-2, retroactive to Aug. 21.

Earlier, the union had asked a 37 1-2 cents increase in the overtime and night rate.

A spokesman for the union said balloting on the terms will be held simultaneously by 37 locals in all Eastern ports between 7 a. m. and 3 p. m. CST) Saturday.

Lyon issued a statement saying the employers committee "agreed to recommend to its employer members that they accept the suggestion for settlement with the ILA recommended by Mr. Ching."

Ching, who said on his arrival here yesterday that he would submit certain "proposals" to the disputants, recommended the specific terms on which the agreement finally was reached.

"The Best Way"

Ching said he thought that was "the best way to get it across."

The agreement was the second development within 24 hours that gave promise of easing New York City's troubled labor scene.

Yesterday, foficials of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks announced they will order members to call off at midnight tonight a "work slowdown" directed against the railway express agency.

The "slowdown, carried out by employes in protest against the discharge of 13 fellow workers, has caused the agency to embargo all rail and air express shipments in and out of the metropolitan area.

The union said it will direct the some 6,000 employes to resume normal opreations, pending the outcome of further negotiations on the dispute.

No More Traffic Lights Planned On 15th Street

There will be no additional traffic control lights on speedy Fifteenth street for some time to come, it was announced Thursday by J. E. Davant, Jr., police and fire commissioner.

Davant has been informed by M. C. Welborn, district engineer, Dallas, that the automatic stop-go signals are not warranted at this time.

Because Fifteenth street is a state highway, the Texas highway department has control over the lights, although the municipality must pay for them if they are installed.

One June 8, Davant requested permission of the department to place lights at the intersections of Fifteenth street and Second, Third, Fourt, Fifth and Sixth avenue and Collin street.

Receiving no answer to the request, he telephoned last week to ascertain what action had been taken. He received a written reply from Welborn.

"Surveys have been made on Fifteenth street at Fourth avenue, Fifth avenue and Collin street," Welborn wrote. "The traffic at these intersections does not meet the minimum requirements set out in the manual on uniform traffic control devices for streets and highways.

"Under the existing regulations, the installation of fixed time (stop and go) signals cannot be authorized at the above intersections.

"Due to construction on Second avenue surveys were not made at Second avenue and Third avenue."

Third avenue traffic has been heavy during recent months because of the paving program on Second avenue, but is expected to drop materially when the new stretch is opened.

In general, the Thanksgiving Day observance was marked with unusual quiet. No major highway accidents were reported despite heavy traffic all day Wednesday and Wednesday night.

The weaterman was nice, too.

A bright, early morning sun and mild temperatures promised a perfect day for the traditional turkey day grid match between Cleburne and Corsicana high's Tigers. The kick-off was at 2:30 p. m.

Navarro Junior College fans followed the Bulldogs to Athens where they tangled with Henderson County.

School students are getting a four-day holiday; they won't return to school until Monday. Most business houses were closed, as were the city hall, courthouse, government agencies and banks.

CORSICANA, TEX., NOV. 26, 1948

REACTION IN EUROPE

The unexpected result of the presidential election meets with the approval of most Western Europeans.

They have feared that a change in administration might be a source of encouragement to the Communists and might indicate a change in European Recovery Program policy, with an increase in aid to China at the expense of Europe. The French, in particular, believe that Truman's aim and policies are similar to those of the Queuille government and opposed to the ideas of de Gaulle and his followers. Some on the other hand had hoped for a change, believing that members of another party might be more successful in dealing with Moscow.

Europeans may have hesitated to put full trust in our bipartisan foreign policy. The best minds of both parties have helped in its formation and in its operation. It is obvious now that the country as a whole approves of it. Europe may take heart from that fact and rest assured of its continuance.

DISPUTED COMMITTEE

A move is on foot among members of the next Congress to disband the notorious House Committee on Un-American Activities, and substitute for it a "Committee on Civil Liberties." It is not surprising that the idea already has wide support. The proposal is for a new committee which would make the same kind of investigations, but by improved methods. More desirable results might be achieved in that way, but what is needed is a change in the primary aim of the committee.

Almost without exception since it was established ten years ago, the activities of the committee have been directed against individuals. It has taken unto itself the duties of a prosecutor in selecting individuals for inquiry, the investigative functions of a grand jury, and the trial functions of a court. Such a combination is repugnant to Americans.

Whether the Committee on Un-American Activities is revised or is replaced by another committee, the interest of the people will not be well served unless the objective of discrediting individuals is dropped. The purpose should be to determine whether the various agencies of the government are taking proper safeguards against subversion, and whether proosals for legislation should be submitted to Congress.

NEW FUELS FROM COAL

A new pilot plant to experiment with the conversion of coal to gas and liquid fuels has just been opened near Pittsburgh, Pa. Practical results for the present are expected to be in the form of new processes for manufacturing gas for industrial and home uses. Made by present methods, synthetic gas is more costly than natural gas, and has a lower heat rating, so that larger and more expensive storage and piping systems are needed.

There is high public interest in the manufacture of gasoline and other liquid fuels from coal, but this still seems far in the future. As a rough comparison, the processes are said to be in about the same stage of development as was the making of synthetic rubber at the start of the recent war. Under the impetus of war demands and the loss of natural rubber supplies, synthetic rubber was advanced rapidly to become a practical material, and now competes effectively with natural rubber. So far there is no such impetus for making synthetic gasoline from coal, and none is anticipated.

At some future time approaching exhaustion of petroleum supplies might force the liquid fuels industry to torn to coal, the known resources of which are much greater than those of petroleum. When that time comes, it is hoped a practical process for making liquid fuels from coal may be ready.

HEAVENLY ENTERTAINMENT

One of the most beautiful comets observed in many years, say astronomers, has been sweeping through the heavens in recent days, giving our earth-bound creatures in many areas something to look at and a tale to pass along to their grandchildren. It was said by those who saw it to be so bright as to outshine the planet Venus.

Unfortunately for onlookers, a comet seems disinclined to stay long enough in one place to produce a real show, and this one is more or less another case of "off again, on again, come again Finagan."

The brief visit of this comet should serve to direct more interest to the nocturnal heavens, and the glorious sights visible on clear nights. Young people in general, with all their modern facilities, seem to take less interest in the heavens than their grandfathers did. They ought to take a pair of field glasses occasionally on bright nights, and see what can be seen up there.

TRADE BALANCE

Although great amounts of goods are being exported under the foreign relief program, total United States exports for this year will be about 15 per cent less than those of last year, according to a Commerce Department estimate. Imports this year are running about 22 per cent higher than last year. But the startling fact is that, despite the combined effect of these two changes, the excess of exports over imports for the year will be well over seven billion dollars. In the years between the wars, the amount ranged generally from about a quarter-billion to a billion dollars.

Officials at the Commerce Department do not expect a return to trade levels like those existing before the war, which were much lower as to exports, imports and the difference between the two. They suggest it would be desirable to increase imports to make an approximate balance with exports at the present level, so that the present export market for American goods could be continued. The balance must be reached in some way, but it would be better to obtain it with more goods and more trade than by choking off exports, which would have depressing effects on all industry and commerce.

An exact balance never needs to be reached as a matter of economic soundness, because the money spent abroad by American tourists can compensate for some consistent excess of exports over imports. But the troublesome dollar shortages abroad will persist until an approximate trade balance is achieved.

DISFRANCHISEMENT

An ominous feature of this election year was the spread of disfranchisement. Both major parties have for years been trying to keep the minor party candidates off the ballot by setting up impossibly high standards of qualification. The well-financed Wallace movement managed to get on in all the states but three, but another new party might not be so successful. And the Socialists and other smaller fry were simply out of luck in several states.

This year disfranchisement went further. The Dixiecrats seemed to distrust their own strength, for they tried to advance their cause by preventing President Truman's supporters from having a chance to vote for him. He did not appear at all on the Alabama ballot, and some other ballots stated that the regular Democratic nominee was Governor Thurmond. This, of course, was not true at all.

If the politicians get away with these tentative efforts of 1948, the United States may look for the spread of legalized disfranchisement.

BUSINESS MAN PRESIDENT

When will a business man be elected president? Admiration for the business man has been so carefully inculcated that it is a wonder it has never spread into politics. Robert E. Sherwood, editor of the diary of Harry L. Hopkins calls attention to the fact that "not one of the great or even above-average presidents had been trained in business. Abraham Lincoln once tried to run a grocery store and failed dismally. Thereafter, he never tried commerce again, but went where he belonged, into politics," Grant, also, was a failure as a clerk in a Galena Ill., store.

It does not follow that success in business would necessarily be followed by political success. Things often must be done indirectly in government where in business they can be accomplished by the issuance of an order. Franklin Roosevelt, quoted elsewhere by Sherwood, commented:

"It is my experience with business men in government that they always get into battles, not alone with one another but with the heads of other government agencies. They don't know how to administer the things they must administer as well as the politicians know how."

Some day a business man may be elected president Probably he will either do well or make a colossal failure.

HEAD OF THE BANKERS

The American Bankers Association has just chosen as its new president Evans Woollen, Jr., of Indianapolis. This is a famous name in Indiana. The elder Evans Woollen, also a banker, was one of the state's prominent Democrats, and in 1928 was Indiana's favorite son candidate for the presidential nomination that went to Al Smith. He died in 1942.

Whether or not the son inherits his father's politics, there have been times when a group of bankers would not think of honoring a man to whom clung a suspicion of belonging to a party that most of them disapproved. Bankers, like members of many other groups once standing apart, are beginning to be individual people.

Lord Tennyson, one of the wisest of modern poets, summed up a whole philosophy in thse words: "The old order changeth, yielding place to new, and God fulfils himself in many forms, lest one good custom should corrupt the world." It is certainly a new and changing world. Mankind will have to learn to take change in its stride, live with uncertainty and get on with progress anyhow.

As if the school kids didn't have enough trouble already, there is talk now of producing a "worldarithmetic." Do two and two make four everywhere? Or don't they?

The takers of political polls evidently polled the wrong people. How to prevent this from happening again is their present problem.

We sometimes think we know what's wrong with the Russians. One trouble is that they also think they now what's wrong with us.

"For a happy modern life, religion is fundamenal," said a student group lately. Now who can say students aren't learning something?

Someone was wondering what boys did before there were scooters. That's easy—they were busy inventing 'em.

THANKSGIVING.

Song of the grateful mind, I sing,
Remembering the good,
With gratitude for every thing
Of field and stream and wood;
The flag of freedom overhead,
God's bounty round about us spread.

We find God's love in countless ways,
So richly are we blest,
Ours is a land of joyous days
And nights of peaceful rest.
Ours is a land of song and prayer
And knowledge all are free to share.

Land of the cheerful hearth is ours.
Of school and temple free,
Of little gardens gay with flowers,
And grateful all should be.
Thanksgiving! Land where mothers say
At table: "Children, let us pray."

A STORY-TELLING TEACHER WHO SPEAKS TIMELESS TRUTH

Recurring Human Problems Presented in Ancient Setting—No Age Outgrows The Teaching of Jesus—Certainly of Kingdom Growth and Heavenly Triumph Assured

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Christianity is a common people's religion. It was founded by a Man whose description of Himself was that He was meek and lowly of heart. He chose as His associates men and women from the humblest walks of life. When His teachings and those of His apostles came to be written down, the language employed was Greek, and it was the Greek not of Pericles and Plato but the Greek of the common people, a language which had grown out of the everyday life of humble men.

Ancient Literary Form

The Gospel is written in a manner which everyone can understand. Jesus sometimes preached sermons, but for the most part His teachings consisted of simple stories, known as parables, wherein he used things with which His listeners were all familiar to explain the hidden mystery of things spiritual. In the Sunday school lessons for this quarter, which deal with the literary forms of the Bible, the parable plays an important role.

In the parable of the mustard seed, Jesus pictured the growth to greatness of the kingdom from tiniest sources. The seed is small but the tree is large. We may not despise the day of small things.

Face the Future Hopefully

These are yeasty days in all the world—to cite the next parable — and the leaven that is working is the leaven of the kingdom. In ways past all describing, the influence of the teachings of Jesus is today permeating the whole world —bringing in a new passion for peace; a new revolt against social inequities; a new resolution to end the exploitation of the many by the few; a new era of liberty for women and of freedom from child labor. This world, despite superficial signs to the contrary, is growing rapidly better, and moving toward the kingdom goal. The leaven is working.

Another parable in the lesson for this week is that of the buried treasure. Every few days the papers tell us some new expedition setting out in search of buried treasure; like the man in the parable who found forutne in a field. The idea Jesus stressed in this story was of the supreme worth of the kingdom. To find all else and to miss this supreme spiritual satisfaction is to die poor. Until men and women get into their minds the truth that the greatest values of all are to be found in the establishment of the reign of the kingdom affairs will continue to be all a-kelter. Once we learn to live by kingdom laws, we shall have solved our crime problem, our war problem, our economic problem, our social problem.

In another story, that of the pearl of great price, for the possession of which the merchant sold all that he had, Jesus pictured this same thought of the superlative value of the kingdom. He reverted to the theme many times; for He saw clearly the universal tragedy of men's giving their souls for things not worth while.

Do We Need Evangelism?

The remaining parables in the lesson deal with things lost—a lost sheep and a lost coin. To a person who has lost anything, the lost object assumes in the mind of the owner a value even greater than the things he still possesses. So it is with God, who has created all things, and whose supreme creations is the soul of man. When this is jeopardized, God is ready to go any length to get back His lost possession.

Today the average church has lost much of its evangelistic zeal, and the terms "saved" and "unsaved" are regarded with amusement and tolerance as taken from the vocabulary of unenlightened days. Of course, many say, there are unsaved people, but why do we support the Salvation Army and the Gospel Mission but to take care of such folk? Our church is made up of "nice" people. Our minister has plenty to do looking after the people who pay his salary.

Above all things in the character of Jesus shines the radiance of His mission as Saviour of the lost. We may admire the profundity of His philosophy; the loveliness of His personal life; His masterly skill in dealing with men. But it is as Saviour of sinners that we take final refuge in Him. Above all our other needs is our need of a Saviour from sin.

The parables of the lost sheep and the lost coin both end on notes of happiness. Jesus magnified the gladness there is over the finding of the lost. He pictured heaven as a place where joy is increased whenever a lost life is found, a sinner redeemed. So it is possible for moral man to add to heaven's joys. The challenge of a lost world, thrown out of spiritual equilibrium by the weight of sin which men carry in their souls, still confronts the Church as problem Number One needing immediate attention.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—I am thankful today...

My name is Adams, Brown, Murphy, Ginsburg, Schwartz, Ali Baba...the name doesn't matter.

I'm a carpenter, doctor, truck-driver, lawyer, bricklayer, porter, nurse...the job doesn't matter. Someone else could do it better, I know.

I'm not only the son of my mother and father. I am one of the heirs of mankind. And I'm one of the ancestors of the future.

So I'm grateful to the men who came before me. I owe them a debt.

I know well what mankind has been. Cruel, selfish, unselfish, brutish, kind, noble, cunning, honest, full of hate, full of love, intolerant, understanding, prejudiced, reckless, good.

Some men sought honor, that delicate flower which hardly outlives a man. Some snatched power with filthy hands. And some used dead bodies as steps of stairs to money or land or castles in Spain.

Some died for a belief or an ideal or because they refused to bow to ignorance or tyranny over the mind or body. Some sacrificed themselves gladly for the good of man.

But most were the obscure people seeking only warmth and peace and their daily bread, doing every day a day's work.

Still, I am the heir of all of them. Knowingly or unknowingly, they helped shape the world I live in, helped keep the fragile spark of life alive, and down through the generations they passed the seeds that finally became you and me.

But then—it's a question I asked myself long ago and had to find the answer—Why should I have an obligation to the men coming after me? and how can I fulfill it?

Because any man's life is a bridge across which all life marches—maybe—but not for sure, to a better future.

Lads To Meet Brownsboro In Playoff Here

State Home officials announced at noon today that the State Home Lads, champions of District 19-B for 1948, will play the Brownsboro team in their bi-district game on Thursday night, Dec. 2, at 7:30 on Tiger Field.

The arrangements were made Wednesday morning at a conference of State Home and Brownsboro school officials at the local Home. State Home won the coin toss and Tiger Field was chosen as the site of the contest.

Brownsboro finished third in District 20-B, but was certified by the district committee Tuesday as the representative, following disqualification of Troup, the first place winner, and Arp, the second place winner, due to ineligible players, it was reported here.

The Lads are undefeated for the season, and will play an exhibition game on Tiger Field here Friday night against Buckner Home of Dallas.

The other bi-district contest in this region will be between the Masonic Home of Fort Worth and Richardson.

The worship program was given by the young people of the host church. During the businss session it was voted to hold the December meeting at the Kerens Methodist church. This is the annual Christmas program. The change in the night of the regular meeting date from Tuesday night to Monday night was under discussion. It was explained that during the basketball season many games are played on Tuesday night, but the change was voted down for the present.

The Eleventh Avenue Methodist church of Corsicana won the attendance record on a percentage basis. The program closed with a recreation period. Danger Of Death From Gas Comes In Cold Weather

AUSTIN, Nov. 25.—(Spl.)—With the advent of cold weather each year in this state, several deaths are usually reported, resulting from asphyxiation by gas fumes in improperly ventilated homes or sleeping quarters.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, has issued a warning in this respect, emphasizing that it is never safe to sleep in a tightly closed room with a gas fire burning. Even if there are no gas leaks, the air soon becomes vitiated and unfit to breathe.

"When occupying a room in which gas is burning, be sure always to have at least one window or door open, to admit fresh air," Dr. Cox said. "If the weather is too cold to permit leaving an open window in the room occupied, then play safe by opening a door into an adjoining room, where a window can be opened."

Dr. Cox said he was prompted to issue this warning early in the season because of the fact that thousands of new residents in the state have come from districts where they have been used to burning coal, wood or oil, and they do not know the dangers of gas fumes in improperly ventilated homes.

"Occupying a room heated by an open gas flame, and at the same time keeping the room tightly closed, may prove disastrous the very first time it is tried," Dr. Cox said. "It is better not to risk it even one time. Always be sure that your room has plenty of fresh air, but make doubly sure when you have a gas fire burning."

Twenty Lettermen Named By Junior High School Team

The Panthers won three games, lost three and tied one in their seven-game schedule during the season. They won games from Corsicana State Home, and from Cleburne's Juniors twice. They lost once to State Home, to Highland Park's Juniors of Dallas, and to Palestine's Juniors. In a return game with the Anderson county crew the Panthers got a tie.

Of the 20 lettermen named for the season, the following 14 will be eligible to play B team football at Corsicana high school next season:

Man Sues Police Officers For Not Arresting Him

STERLING, Ill., Nov. 25.—(AP)—A motorist has sued two Rock Falls, Ill., policemen for $10,000, contending they did not arrest him in time to prefent an accident.

The suit, filed by Albert D. Martin in circuit court, gave this account:

On Nov. 17, 1946, Martin was drunk in his car at a filling station in Rock Falls. The two officers were summoned but failed to arrest him, waiting until he had driven onto Route 30.

Then in their squad car they forced Martin to halt by cutting in front of him. While the two cars were stopped, a truck banged into them. The impact knocked Fossett to the pavement and damaged Martin's car and the squad car.

In May, Fossett was awarded $4,000 from the company. Martin subsequently was convicted of drunken driving and fined $100.

His contention is that had the officers arrested him at the filling station the accident would not have occurred.

W. V. Harrison Is Speaker Monday At Brotherhood

W. V. Harrison, Frost school superintendent, delivered a thought-provoking address on the Brotherhood of Man before the November meeting of the Corsicana Baptist District Brotherhood at the First Baptist church Monday night. Officers for the ensuing year were elected at a business session presided over by T. S. Patrick, Corsicana, Brotherhood, president.

There were 96 present.

Pie and coffee were served the group by the ladies of the church following the program.

After discussing the brotherhood of man in the light of the Scriptures, the West Navarro county educator and civic leader, declared that Americans have an unprecedented opportunity of showing the downtrodden peoples of Europe and Asia that we are allies and brothers after pointing out that the enslaved masses throughout the world were looking to America.

America's Responsibility.

The speaker declared that America can lift them up in effect, or stand them on their necks; either say we are with them to achieve freedom and justice or against them; we can't preach one thing and practice another; we can't keep democracy and Christianity to ourselves.

"All the world is crying out in unison for what Christ died for," the school executive declared in closing.

Harrison said in opening his discussion that God established the brotherhood of man and the question was whether or not we accept or reject it. He asserted that ties of brotherhood had been broken and that it was easier to acknowledge brotherhood than to practice it, and then he spent considerable time in reviewing the feudal system and the later wage system with the attendant evils, etc.

After mentioning and discussing the Sermon on the Mount, and its teachings, the educator pointed out that the priest and peddler, millionaire and chauffeur, Jew, Catholic, black and brown man, all served taogether and fought together in World Wars I and II to insure that freedom endures, and then asked why they couldn't work together side by side for more than a paycheck.

"Christians should taink as world citizens," Harrison added, and then after declaring that human rights were greater than property rights, said that the brown and yellow men of Asia and other continents were crying out for a fuller life and against exploitation.

Tommy Dixon, educational director, welcomed the visitors in the absence of Dr. Jared I. Cartlidge, pastor. M. A. Tekell, president of the First church Brotherhood, and John C. Calhoun also spoke.

Harrison was introduced by Don Palmer of Frost.

The meetings in the future will be held on the Tuesday night following the third Sunday in each month.

Meetings scheduled include:
December—Frost.
January—North Side.
February—Memorial.
March—Roane.

Officers Named.

Officers named included Rev. Jack Goff, North Side; Rev. J. B. Ousley, Memorial, and Rev. W. B. Estes, Dawson, advisory council; Roy Bristow, First church, vice president in charge of programs; W. B. Denn, Frost, vice president and pianist; L. O. Taylor, Memorial, promotion vice president; D. W. Barnes, North Side, choirister; Don Palmer, Frost, secretary-treasurer, and Paul Moore, First church, reporter.

It was to be 1.25 miles in length. The offer was made on the condition that the material of which the road was to be constructed meet the department's approval.

Television on the Farm

Buck Childs' home has become mighty popular ever since he got that television set—one of the few sets in our town, outside of Andy's Garden Tavern.

Not only do the kids stay home nights, but the neighbors drop in to see whatever's being telecast. And Buck and the missus always make them welcome, with a mellow glass of beer or ale (with cider and cookies for the youngsters).

While I guess everyone admits that television still has far to go, it's not hard to see that it will some day be as much a part of American home and farm life as the temperate glass of beer that Buck serves, and the hospitality that goes with it.

And from where I sit, anything that adds to gracious living in America—brings folks together for temperate, quiet entertainment—is a boon to this home-loving land of ours. (We're thinking of buying a television set ourselves!)

TINY TOTS QUEEN—Little Miss Carole Ann Brewster, 10-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Brewster of Arlington, and granddaughter of Mr and Mrs. J. W. The winner came from a group of 26 contestants and received a trophy and a technicolor screen test, after making high scores in health, beauty and personality. Carole Ann was dressed in a robe of white brocade taffeta, covered with white nylon net thickly sprinkled with tiny clusters of multi-colored sequins and a gold crown for the coronation.

CORSICANANS FOLLOW CAREER OF YOUNG JACK DALE BUNCH, HOLLYWOOD ACTOR, DANCER

Corsicana friends are following with great interest the career of young and talented Jack Dale Bunch, actor and dancer who has been on the West coast studying and working with professional theatre groups for the past three years.

Bunch, familiarily known here as Corky, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bunch, who formerly lived in Corsicana but now reside in Fort Worth.

Heart of Hollywood

The Gregg Tallas' Orchard Gables Repertory Theatre is a group of young people embarking on an ambitious theatre program of long range nature with a playhouse in the heart of Hollywood, according to newspaper clippings forwarded here.

Tallas has long been a film editor in Hollywood.

Three debut plays were "The Alchemist", Moliere's "Would-Be-Gentleman" and Chekov's "Sea Gull."

Bunch appeared in the casts of all three, assisting also in technical capacities for two of the plays.

"As for the "Gentleman" again a solo virtuoso bit of work stood out, that of Jack Bunch, whose choreography stamped the production, and whose own dancing and mining had a style and authority of its own.

Legend

The theatre programs carry this legend:

"Twenty-five people working as one to produce living theatre. This is the dream of many, but the reality of few.

"Now after three years of planning, and six months of actual preparation the dream is coming true. Here exists the wonderful spirit that motivates the actors as one to produce craftsmanship at its best form in the theatre."

According to Mrs. Bunch, the actor's mother, the theatre staff members live on the lot where the playhouse is located. They make all costumes and sets.

While Tallas is director, James Graham is business manager for the venture.

In the "Would Be Gentleman" Bunch appeared as the Dancing Master, as Cleonate and in the other roles. He also resigned the set and established the choreography.

In Ben Johnson's "The Alchemist" he appeared as Drugger and in an assiting role.

"Sea Gull"

For the "Sea Gull' he was cast as Treplieff and was in charge of properties.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunch, the actor's parents, were recently in Corsicana with the Rev. A. A. Peacock to attend the district conference at Eleventh Avenue Methodist Church where they formerly were members. The Rev. Peacock is pastor of Riverside Mthodist Church, Ft. Worth.

Court Challenge Of Field Closings For Gas Waste Looms

AUSTIN, Nov. 25—(AP)—Sweeping action by the Railroad Commission closing in 16 Texas oil fields for alleged wasteful gas flaring today was facing court challenge by seven oil producers.

Suit was filed yesterday in 98th district court seeking to enjoin the commission from enforcing the orders applying to the Heyser field, in Calhoun and Victoria counties, one of the 16.

The suit came speedily after the commission had made public only a few hours earlier the shutdown orders that would slash Texas daily crude oil production as much as an estimated 400,000 barrels.

The restraining order was sough by Sterling Oil and Refining Company, Humble Oil and Refining Company, Sinclair-Prairie Oil Company, Magnolia Petroleum Company, Gulf Oil Corporation, and the Plymouth Oil Company. The Sun Oil Company filed a petition in intervention seeking similar relief in the same field.

Sterling's suit alleged that the commission's order was "illegal, unjust, unreasonable, arbitrary and discriminatory against the plaintiffs," that it was physically impossible to comply with it until additional compression facilities now under construction in the field are completed, and that production stoppage would deprive the public and the armed forces of needed supplies of oil and products.

PALESTINE

precise the action of the assembly, the better the prospects are for peaceful settlement." He added he felt the office of the mediator should end when a conciliation commission is established.

Bunche spoke as the committee neared the end of debate on the report of Bernadotte, who had proposed giving the southern Negev to the Arabs and western Galilee to Israel, the reverse of the U. N. partition plan. Israel objects. Britain had urged Bernadotte's report as a "basis" for settlement.

Seven Points Made

Bunche made these seven points as possible aids to peace in Palestine:

1. Reaffirmation of the existence of Israel and its eligibility for membership.
2. A strong call upon Arabs and Israelis to negotiate outstanding differences.
3. Establishment of a conciliation commission.
4. Clear guidance to the commission on the direction a final solution should take.
5. International guarantees of boundaries of Arab and Jewish Palestine.
6. The right of refugees to return to their homes and compensation for those who choose not to return or who suffered losses.
1. A special international status for Jerusalem.

An Israeli membership application could put Britain on a delicate diplomatic spot. The British may have to decide whehter to veto the application or abstain. A veto would indicate friction with the United States and Canada. Abstention, which might permit Israeli entry, would alienate Britain's Arab friends.

This was Eastern Europe's unofficial reply to recent comments from Western sources that there is little hope of success for current efforts to end the Berlin crisis.

The accusations came from informants close to the Russian delegation and its satellites in the United Nations General Assembly. Those who commented refused to permit themselves to be identified by name or nationality.

The Eastern diplomatic sources asserted in interviews that the United States, Britain and France seem bent on throwing away any chance of a Berlin accord so that under cover of heightened tension in the German capital, they can achieve these objectives:

1. Push the projected North Atlantic defense pact through the United States Congress.
3 Launch a program for rearming Western Europe.
3. Establish United States military bases at key continental points.

"Security actually does not become a problem during the period of military occupation," Marshall said in a statement.

Embassy officials promptly objected to this, pointing out no German peace treaty is in sight and that in the meantime German production is growing rapidly. German steel output is already greater than that of France, they said.

They are the Europeans recently arrived here under the displaced persons law.

Another group of 50 displaced persons, en route by plane to Venezuela, were invited to a dinner provided by an airline at their stop-over in New York.

But one group of DP's missed the Thanksgiving celebration here. They are aboard a ship, the "Mercy," whose arrival was delayed until tomorrow (Friday) when it went out of its way to help another ship, the "Comfort," which needed new parts.

Movie "Turkeys" Selected Just At Right Time

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25—(AP)—This is Turkey Day and we're going to celebrate it. In show biz terms, a turkey is an egg, a Brody, a flop.

Hollywood has tasted its share of this fowl in 1948 and it's only right that proper honor should be paid. These selections are my own and do not reflect the opinion of any other person, living or dead.

"Winter Meeting," Bette Davis' talk marathon.

Lana Turner's romance with Tyrone Power.

"Arch of Triumph," which even Ingrid Bergman and Charles Boyer couldn't save.

The printed report that Jack LaRue was sought to play opposite Ingrid Bargman in her British film.

"If Winter Comes," a cliche-ridden view of British life.

Rumors "The Robe" would finally be made.

eorge Raft's claims he would retire.

Panhandle Oil Plant Planned

WICHITA FALLS, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Panhandle Producing and Refining Company plans to spend about $1,000,000 to increase its output at its North Wichita Falls Refinery by adding a fluid catalytic cracking unit.

The company announcement yesterday said the new unit will add 50 per cent to crude oil capacity at the plant. The unit will be the first of its kind in North Texas, the announcement said.

W. F. Sims, refinery manager, said contracts have been let and the work will begin in March, 1949. The job is expected to take about a year.

Deputy's Slayer Is Given Death

HOUSTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)—J. W. Morrow, escaped convict charged with killing a deputy sheriff while at large, was found guilty and assessed the death penalty by a district court jury here yesterday.

The jury deliberated an hour and five minutes.

Gen. Moore To Head Chanute

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Brig. Gen. Aubry L. Moore, 47, commander of Goodfellow Air Base, San Angelo, Texas, will take command of Chanute Air Base here Dec. 1, it was announced by the air force.

Dewey To Make Policy Talk Soon

DALLAS, Nov. 25.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, passing through here last night on his way back to New York from an Arizona vacation, said he will make a GOP policy speech soon.

Dewey, defeated Republican candidate for the presidency, did not elaborate. His plane landed here at 9 p. m. (CST). It left at 9:30 p. m.

Texas Man Beats Estranged Wife, Then Kills Self

PITTSBURG, Tex., Nov. 25—(AP)—A young garage mechanic shot himself to death after beating his estranged wife when she refused to return to him yesterday.

Coroner J. Tom Laney returned a verdict of suicide in the death of Tommy Law, 24, of Pittsburg, Camp county Sheriff H. F. Hackler said Law's wife, Georgie Mae, 21, was severely beaten in the church where she worked.

Sheriff Hackler said Law, estranged from his wife several days, went to her office at the First Baptist Church, tried to persuade her to return to him, but failed.

After the beating, Hackler said, the mechanic returned to his home. Law's brother, Bobby, found the body with a .22-caliber rifle lying nearby.

Besides his wife, a 20-month-old son survives Law.

New Field Said Being Developed

AMARILLO, Tex., Nov. 25—(AP)—N. D. Bartlett, oil editor of the Amarillo News Globe, said today the Sinclair-Prairie Oil and Gas Company has opened a new deep gas and distillate field in the Anadarko basin in northwest Roberts county.

Bartlett said in the paper's morning edition that the company has not released any information. However, he said he has received reliable reports that the well justifies the opinion of oil geologists that oil could be found in the Texas part of the basin.

Bartlett said his information is that the well is blowing between 5 and 7 million feet of gas and about 36 barrels of distillate a day. The test is reported in Section 135, Block C, G&M Survey, on the Lips Ranch four miles north of the Canadian river, 30 miles west of Canadian, 24 miles south of Perryton, and 80 miles northeast of here.

THANKSGIVING WAS MADE IN AMERICA

The little company of Pilgrims, pitifully few in a great, uncharted, unfriendly wilderness, came to their first Thanksgiving and knelt in humble gratitude before the food that was barely enough to keep them alive. They had fought for their freedom . . . they had stood their ground . . . and won! It was a Thanksgiving made in a new land out of a hard and bitter struggle. As we sit down this year in the comfort and with the abundance that our America has given us . . . let us hold fast to a strength and faith as great as theirs. It is still our own Thanksgiving, made in America, for Americans. LET US NOT FORGET, HUMBLY, TO GIVE THANKS!

Judge Mays Tells Hunt Philosophy To Rotary Club

Members of the Corsicana Rotary Club entered into the Thanksgiving season Wednesday equipped with the philosophy that springs from the light of a wintry moon and the baying of a hunt-loving hound.

Until the club members heard an address at their luncheon at the Navarro Hotel by Judge A. P. Mays, president of the Amateur Field Trials Clubs of America, few knew that philosophy as well as coons and foxes comes from the chase.

Judge Mays talked of several things; of politics, and kids without anchors. But mostly he talked of hounds.

The baying of a hound at night, with the moon and the stars splattered across the sky, is music, Judge Mays said. And, he added, "the purpose of all music is a tribute to God."

Hunt Philosophy Told.

He discussed at length the philosophy of hounds and hunting. Over a period of years there had formulated this trend. And, he added, it applies to man as well as dogs.

For example:

"The dog that leads the pack is often a silent runner."

"Some dogs make more noise running trash than they do after a big red."

"Bench winners bear very few scars from the chase."

"The truest and gamest dog does not always have the longest pedigree."

"Brag on your wife half as much as your dogs and you will never be bothered by the divorce courts."

"Even a bitch looks after her puppies until their eyes are open."

Realization of Relativity.

Out of the hunt, Judge Mays told the group, will come "a realization of relativity," a realization that "there must be and is a supreme architect."

Ardent worker in juvenile fields, the jurist touched briefly on the boys and girls who suddenly find trouble in their arms.

"I still have questions dealing with the little child," he said.

"I am still believing in my conclusions that 'there ain't no such thing as a kid beyond redemption,' and I use 'ain't' advisedly.

"Kids have got to have something to tie to," he added.

"Kids have got to have something to love.

"Where would you be without those things?"

Judge Mays was introduced by O. L. Albritton.

FRONT WHEEL ALIGNMENT

On a wheel out of alignment, the tire tends to drag sidewise instead of rolling freely.

Improper camber will cause excessive wear on one side of the tread. Uneven or feather edge wear is caused by improper toeing in or toeing out of the wheel. Every few months your front wheels should be checked by your Chevrolet dealer, who has the special equipment for doing the job.

AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 25—(AP)—Democratic National Committeeman Wright Morrow of Houston has lashed back at his critics of the State Executive Committee who want to oust him from the post to which he was elected last May.

He said yesterday that he will not resign. He noted that the rules of the National Committee provide it can fill vacancies created only by death or resignation.

Last week the State Executive Committee at Dallas confirmed action of the Fort Worth convention in September seeking to remove Morrow as National Committeeman and replace him with Byron Skelton of Temple.

At a press conference, Morrow said he was willing to stand on his record. He said he would be glad to compare his record in behalf of President Truman's election with that of "any or all" of those who seek his removal.

District Supervisors Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District: Morris Crawford, chairman; W. C. Pearce, vice-chairman; Thad Jones,

V. H. Bottoms, 2 1-2 miles southwest of Navarro, cut 40 bales of Bermuda grass hay from his terrace outlet waterway last summer. Bottoms sprig sodded this outlet in February, 1947, by using grass sprigs from his own farm.

Co-operators not having a source of sprigs on their own farm can now buy these sprigs at 25c per sack. It will take approximately 10 sacks per acre for sodding. Supervisors of the Navarro-Hill conservation district are urging co-operators to secure the sprigs now and sod while there is plenty of moisture in the ground.

John Beck, Kerens conservation group, started harvesting roots Monday morning for his own use and for sale to the public. Beck asks the farmers to bring their sacks to him and then he will let them know when to return for the roots. Farmers securing roots should keep them wet down until put in the ground.

T. C Lowe, North Powell conservation group, has just made a co-ordinated conservation plan on his farm two miles north of Powell. In carrying out his plan, Lowe has built one mile of terraces that empty on a well-sodded Bermuda grass pasture. Mr. Lowe has also planted 20 acres of vetch for soil improvement.

Prior to sodding Bermuda grass on worn out land, D. B. Bennett, Corbet conservation group, plans to build up the fertaility of the soil. Bennett had several fields covered in needle grass. He distributed 200 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate per acre, disked the land twice with a tandem disk and then drilled in vetch and rye Bennett will harvest a seed crop of vetch and rye next summer and then put out his Bermuda grass sprigs.

Murray Alsup, South DeArmon Ridge conservation group, has built 1 1-2 miles of field terraces and .3 miles of diversion terraces that empty on a well-sodded pasture.

Co-operators planting soil improving crops are R. L. Nolan, 200 acres of vetch and rye; Supervisor Morris Crawford, 145 acres of vetch and rye, both of Rural Shade conservation group; Jim Grimmett, Barry conservation group, 11 acres veach and rye, and C. C. McClung, Navarro conservation group, 100 acres Austrian winter peas.

Death Penalty Appeal Of Ray Being Prepared

Preparations for William Ruthes Ray's appeal from a Navarro district court death penalty for rape were in the making here Wednesday.

The ex-soldier was convicted by a jury here last July of assaulting a nine-year-old girl in a Fort Worth park. He was denied a new trial at a hearing September 4 and an appeal notice was given.

District Clerk J. C. Gaston disclosed Wednesday that he was preparing to send transcripts in the case to the Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin.

Ray's lawyer, H. S. Beard of Waco, had not filed his bill of exceptions—but he has until December 3 to do so as a result of an extension of time given by Judge A. P. Mays on November 15, Gaston reported.

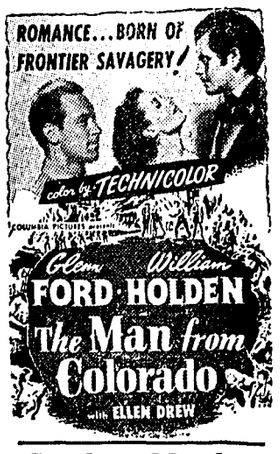

Meanwhile, Beard and Tarrant District Attorney Al Clyde, chief prosecutor at the trial, conferred with County Attorney Charles T. Banister here Wednesday morning.

"We had a conference on the bill of exceptions in connection with the appeal of the Ray case," Banister said, adding that another discussion probably will take place Monday with Judge Mays, who currently is engaged in trial work.

Ray is now in the Dallas county jail after spending several months in the county jail here.
